A new report from Britain's MI6 intelligent agency confirms the situation in the Middle East is tailor-made for Hezbollah to strike at Israel, especially since the terrorist group recently received a supply of state-of-the-art missiles from Iran, according to a report from Joseph Farah's G2 Bulletin.

The situation is so serious that Prime Minister Gordon Brown and opposition leader David Cameron both have been briefed as the nation's general election advances. The winner soon could be facing a serious international crisis.

Feared is a repeat of the 2006 conflict that left 1,000 Lebanese and Israelis dead.

Already Hezbollah's leader, Hassan Nazrallah, and Hamas' Khalid Mashal have met with Iran President Mahmoud Ahmedinejad in Tehrann. In the words of one MI6 intelligence officer, the meeting was "to rub their hands in glee" over the year-long rift between Israeli Prime-Minister Netanyahu and President Obama's administration over Israel's settlement policy in the West Bank and East Jerusalem.

Israel's relations with the U.S. are rupturing at a time when the Jewish state needs every ounce of support from Washington. And now the arrival of the state-of-the-art Scuds has alarmed Washington.
